

Dr Mi-Kyeong Kim, M.D, PhD is a physician, and also an allergist, usually focusing on taking care of patients with asthma and allergic diseases. Her major research field is animal asthma model dealing new asthma therapeutic modality on anti-eosinophil. She is involved in international new asthma medical clinical trials. She is the chief of Department of Internal Medicine in Chungbuk National University Hospital and also in charge of Pharmacovigilance Center. She is now Director of Regional Respiratory Center.